Will Noddy save the day? Come along to the University of Central Lancashire and find out!

Murder in Toytown is the title of this year's Family Lecture, organised by the University's Faculty of Science, on Saturday 5 January 2002.

At this popular annual event, Dr Lee Chatfield, from the Centre for Forensic Science will be using favourite toys and visual displays to help us understand how Forensic Science can be used to solve modern day crimes.

Aimed at those aged between 7 years and 70+ years, the lecture will be held in the University's Harrington Lecture Theatre in Preston, from 1.30pm to 2.30pm. Tickets and further information can be obtained from Catherine Holliday, Faculty of Science, Maudland Building, University of Central Lancashire, tel 01772 893487.
